

To Whom It May Concern,

Throughout my last four years with College Works Painting, I have grown considerably both personally and professionally. In the fall of 2003, I learned about College Works Painting's internship. After 4 years of working with Gabe Cooley, I have developed qualities such as organization, work ethic, and integrity, which have allowed me to be extremely successful personally, professionally, and academically. I now leave College Works as a UC Davis graduate who has managed over 40 employees, been responsible for more than 500 painting projects, and produced roughly 1.5 million dollars in revenue. In addition to having great things to put on a resume, College Works has been very supportive in helping pursue a different career after graduation. Lastly, the money that I have earned has allowed me to leave school with savings rather than debt.

While College Works is certainly not for everyone, if you are looking for a challenge that will push you way out of your comfort zone and build skills that will translate to any field, then I can confidently say that there is no better opportunity available. If you do decide that College Works Painting is the right opportunity for you, then prepare for the most challenging, exciting, and possibly life-changing summer of your life.

Alexander C. Eley
UC Davis Graduate
Psychology/Economics