

Izumi Kono

To Whom It May Concern:

As an intern who saw the College Works Painting program to completion, I would highly recommend the same to anyone who is seeking a enriching experience as well as one who is a goal-setting determined individual. To all others, I would direct them to other internships whose tasks may +e comprised mostly o, making copies and coffee. I am a firm +eliever in the idea that anything valuable comes with hard wor$* - othing worth having ever ,alls into your lap. College Works also gives the individual potential to reap high rewards financially, and it comes to those who work for it. This program is for someone who understands this concept and does not expect unreasonable results for minimal work done.

College Works offers an incredibly extensive hands-on business training including but not limited to communication skills with clients and employees alike, seminars teaching time management and conflict-resolving, as well as how to make profit. Additionally, interns have a great chance to add to their personal #rowth, from discipline to self-confidence. Lastly, the numerous get-togethers with other ,ellow interns gives great networking opportunity with other like-minded, hardworking people. - o other internship I know offers such a rewarding package within a roughly eight-month time period.

My internship experience with College Works Painting is truly one of the most valuable investments I have made in my personal #rowth as well as in my business skills. I have since then +een able to handle all of my jo+ interviews smoothly and with confidence due to the immense amount of experience and skills learned through College Works. My current jo+ as a marketing representative with The Ad Group has me visiting clients and problem-solving, setting up new accounts as well as training new entry level marketing reps. My skills in carrying out such duties and more have +een greatly enhanced by the &ractice I have had doing the College Works internship. If you have further questions, feel free to contact me at izumi_kono@hotmail.com and I will be happy to assist you.

Sincerely,
Izumi Kono
The Ad Group, www.teamtaggroup.com