College Works Painting
Letter of Recommendation

It is my privilege and pleasure to write this glowing letter of recommendation for the entire College Works Painting program of entrepreneurs. I most recently participated in this life changing event during my 3rd year of college while attending the University of California, Santa Barbara just two years ago.

College Works Painting is certainly the finest entrepreneurial program I could have imagined. This internship has taught me integrity, work ethic, and professionalism where these three characteristics matter most in the world of business.

As a student athlete at UCSB, I was not only committed to water polo and academics, but to my future as a professional as well. My schedule was crammed with not only school and work, but also five to six hours of water polo practice daily, starting at 6am on occasion. College Works offered me the opportunity to learn and succeed with a well written business model that allows young professionals to make good money and gain proficient experience while in college. There are no classes offered at any University that can give you such robust and hands on experience.

Since graduating UCSB, I have continued my passion with sales. Currently I am working as a Financial Consultant with the second largest broker-dealer in the nation, A.G. Edwards as a part of Wachovia Securities, LLC. I am the youngest consultant in my office and my experience with College Works is what excited me about this opportunity. The bottom line is, without the internship at College Works Painting, I would not have been recruited by a firm who believes only in hiring brokers that are in a second career stage. My gratitude is most deeply expressed towards those individuals at College Works that helped me understand the importance of work experience, and provided me the opportunity to create a bulletproof resume.

Needless to say, College Works Painting has my highest recommendation. The students who succeed with this program are consistently outperforming the rest of their peers. This has taught me more about life and my will to succeed than anything else I have every accomplished. I wish the entire program the best with each new relationship, success story, and character it builds.

Sincerely,
