

To Whom It May Concern:

My experience with College Works Painting was one of the most challenging and rewarding periods of my college career. It gave me the opportunity to stretch and grow in ways that no other internship could have. The company is set up to help you learn, grow and succeed but requires a large amount of hard work and dedication.

As a branch manager I was able to jump start my future plans of owning and managing my own business. I developed skills in marketing, sales, and management which I could not have gained in any other college setting. The ability to sale a product and then deliver in a way that satisfies customers is something that is essential in any business endeavor and is something that I now have confidence in.

College Works Painting is one of the greatest ways to get ahead of the competing work forces. I toughly enjoyed my time as an intern and would recommend the experience to anyone who is willing to work hard and wants to be successful in life.

letterSincerely,

Clint Call