To Whom It May Concern:

I learned of College Works Painting from my roommate at Utah State University and applied for a position as a Branch Operator in fall semester of 2009. I was very impressed with the way the program was presented at the time of recruitment and in subsequent training sessions. I am happy to say that College Works Painting has delivered everything that was promised. The financial benefits of the internship was directly proportional to effort that was put in by myself, however, the exposure that I gained, both internally from my District Manager and Vice President of Utah Division, and externally from interacting with clients, helped me to grow as an individual. I was able to refine my skills in managing people, organization, planning, time management and generally running a business. CWP has developed a truly performance based model at every level of the organization, from painters to top management positions and promotes individualism and creative thinking.

I do not hesitate to recommend this program to anyone who is driven, hardworking and is looking to join an organization that will reward and develop their talents and provide strong leadership in guiding them to achieve their goals.

Yours Sincerely

Imran Khan
